

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A device for producing a printing form includes a printing form carrier, a holder and an imaging head fixed to the holder. The imaging head has at least one radiation source and is positionable along a printing form blank for directing radiation onto the printing form blank for producing printing ink-accepting image points in accordance with an image. A tempering or temperature control configuration is provided for the holder.

10

15

20

HLL/nt/eg